SEVEN ROADS TIED UP.

The Employes of the Brooklyn Go Out on NEW YORK, January 25 .- All the horse-car lines of the Atlantic Avenue Railroad Co., Brooklyn, seven in number, of which road Deacon Richardson is President, were tied up this morning. Yesterday all day Richardson had been holding conferences with the committees of his men, but practically without any good results. The men then threatened to any good results. The men then threatened to tie up the road, but Richardson would not yield his points or agree to the terms of the men. When the men brought their cars to the depot last night they left them there with the determination not to take them out again until some arrangement could be agreed upon whereby they could have $2 a day for ten hours' work. The lines of the Atlantic Avenue Railroad are not in the section of the Beity through which the elevated railroad runs, so that it made traveling inconvenient for those living along the route of that road. The police have perfected arrangements for keeping the peace. No trouble is apprehended, however, as the men are orderly and quiet. Richardson this noon said he was determined to carry his point and advertised for men to take the places of the strikers.

These two stood at their posts all day and received the kindless expressions of sympathy from all of the members of both the Senate and the House of Representatives, who came in during the day to view the remains of their departed fellow law-maker. The bler was almost burled under the masses of flowers and the face of the dead wore a quiet and peaceful expression. During the day Edward D. Then the blind chaplain of the House, Rev. W. H. Milburn, stood at the head of the coffin and in a trembling voice delivered an impressive prayer, which touched the hearts of the Slent gathering. When the ceremonles were over six staiwart members of the Capitol police lifted the heavy casket and bore it to the hearse awaiting it at the door, taken to the Potomac depot and placed upon the car that was to take it part of the way on its long journey. Mrs. Guenther informed the police yesterday that her daughter was in a house of ill repute at No. 1219 Lucas avenue. She had loved not wisely, but too well, having trusted too implicitly in the flattery of a young man who until a short time ago was employed in a candy factory in the city. When her condition becameknown to the family she was cruelly turned out of doors by her mother. In her helpess condition she wan to the proprietor of the above named house, whom she said was then her only friend in the world she having formed the woman's acquaintance several years ago when the latter was leading a respectable life. This woman being much more charitably inclined than Minnie's mother, took the young girl in, but said that her house was by no means a suitable place for the girl and sent her to the house of her mother, a respectable woman, where Minnie has lived for the past four weeks, and where she was found by the police last night. The poor girl keenly feels her disgrace, but she positively refuses to make affidavit to information criminating the young man. She says that her only friend in the world is the woman above referred to, and that she would follow her counsel, whatever it might be. Although word has been sent to Minnie's family, up to noon to-day none of them had appeared to see her. Her mother in making complaint, expressed a wish to send the girt to the House of the Good Shepherd, but if arrangements for this move are not made by o'clock to-day the girl will be released.

Sir Knight Wm. B. Smythe says it is not the time for feasting when the Irish champions are on the English rack and the cause of Home Rule is threatened.

Sir Knight John B. Clemens says the annual banquet stands high in his estimation among "the practical results" of the organization and should not be abandoned. And so the sentiments on this subject differ.

DR. THOMAS O'REILLY, who has probably done more for the cause of home rule than any other individual citizen of St. Louis, was called upon. His views on the proposition to abandon the annual banquet of the Knights of St. Patrick and the parade of the lith of March were requested. In reply he said:

"You come to the wrong person for information concerning the Knights of St. Patrick and the lrish societies of St. Louis, as I am not a member of any society."

"Can you tell me how the Knights of St. Patrick are estimated by their fellow-citizens of Irish birth?"

"They regard them as an anamolous body in many ways. Their name would imply that Interest by the chambermaid's broom in moving the royal furniture about the appartment during house-cleaning time.

The hardy sons of Navan, Kerry and Kildare have wasted their warlike eloquence, and now some revolutionary spirit in the ranks of the Knights has suggested a change in the plan of campaign. The proposition is a startling one. It is nothing less than a suggestion that the annual banquet of the Knights of St. Patrick be abandoned and that the funds annually expended for viands be forwarded to Ireiand to be disbursed in relieving tenants left house-less and homeless by cruel evictions.

It is a revolutionary sentiment. The result of its presentation at the regular weekly meeting of the Knights to-morrow evening is uncertain.

They are before the walls of the ranks of the bold Knights, on whose disputations the cyes and the hopes of an oppressed people are centered.

While suffering Ireiand waits, the Richards and the Leopolds waste their strength in long delays and fruitless disputes. Ex-President James Duross says the abandonment of the costly spread and the dedication of the money to the immediate needs of the Irish leaders would be "a good scheme." Sir Knight John D. Finney says the proposition is a barbarously leonoclastic sentiment. The banquet is historic.

How often a lawyer who is supposed to have a taste for nothing but technicalities, is an ardent lover of literature. Nine-tenths of those persons who have raved about conjugal love were batchelors and the best pastorals have been written in the city. In a person's true calling he sees the difficulties to be overcome, but is always haunted by an ideal, and this is iprobably the real cause for many of the contraries we notice in life. These were only a few of the instances cited by Miss Asbbrook. The essay was complete and much enjoyed. At the conclusion of the reading, "The Home," a chorus song was well rendered by the class. The concluding feature of the programme was an oration by Master St. Clair Hite on "Business Morality." The subject was too mature for the young man, and consequently was not well chosen, but nevertheless he acquitted himself very creditably.

Mr. Louis Soldan stepped on the stage at the conclusion of Mr. Here's cration and made an address to Precident Judson and to the audience on behalf of the graduates and of the High School. He spoke at length on the necessity of having a public higher education in a city like St. Louis. The preparations which have been made to provide the city with a fine High School, he thought, would receive the indorsement of the public. St. Louis claims that is has the best public schools in the country, and in educational matters the city will take no step backward. Mr. Soldan then introduced Mr. Judson to the class. In achieving the development of their character, Mr. Judson son said, he hoped that the life of each one of the class, "No step backward." William Dougherty, the driver of a furniture wagon, was fined $100 in the Second District Police Court this morning on a charge of disturbing the peace, which consisted of drawing a knife on his father, who was giving him a reprimand on account of his shiftless ways. He was prevented from using the knife by the interference of his hister. Geo. Brookline, a young man who persists in making himself familiar with street-car drivers, got on a car yesterday with a driver whom he did not know, and persisted in riding a few blocks, but was put off the car. George remonstrated quite foreibly and was fined $30 this morning. Charles Williams, an ungaliant negro, was fined $20 for fighting with a woman of his own color. Thomas Kilroy was fined $30 for joitering and $10 for interfering with police duties.

Only energetic action of the police will compet these men to cease selling liquor. The arrest of the eight saloon-keepers, who have been peremptorily refused licenses byfCollector Sexton every time the doors of their saloons are found open, would soon put an end to the most conspicuous and harmful form of resistance to the law.

A dive has no place in this community and should not be allowed to exist. The law is against it, the Collector has declared himself against it and the police are informed as to the location of at least eight dives, for they have reported the result of their own investigations.

the keeper of the dive at 613 Wash street, yesterday afternoon took his tongus to Capt. Boyd, the commandant of the Third Police Court. That tongue is a very worthy member and is getting quite a reputation in the police department. Lippe told the captain he had resolved to quit business and his saloon was closed. While the talk was going on a policeman in citizen's clothes entered the dive on Wash street and bought 5 cents worth of beer. It was sold to him by Mrs. Lippe. Subsequently a careful watch was kept over the dive which compelled the proprietor to discontinue business. This kind of care is well calculated to close such places as Lippe's and rid the community of their baleful influences.

FLETCHER & BROFHY,

proprietors of the saloon at No. 15 South Sixth street, which the police reported was the resort of lewid men and women, yesterday called at the Post-Distract office. The report on their saloon furnished to the board by Capt. Joyce contained as authorities Sergts. Boyd and Murray and Patrolman Wilson. The latter, Fletcher & Brophy said, had told them positively he had not furnished any information for the report. He told them, they said, he knew nothing against their saloon; that he knew it was properly conducted and was not the resort of improper characters. Patrolman Wilson could not be seen to-day, as he had gone to a funeral.

Sergt. Boyd said: "I wrote the report to Capt. Joyee on my own knowledge and from information furnished me by Sergt. Murray and Patrolman Wilson. Every word contained in that report can be substantiated. I do not want to take back anything. I do not want to take back anything. I do not want to take back anything. This afternoon Nathan Frank, Congressman-elect from the Ninth District, and an attorney called on Collector H. C. Sexton and talked with him for half an hour, endeavoring to change his decision in regard to Esher. They held that he would be justified in issuing the license if Esher would sign an agreement to remedy the evils complained of by the police. Mr. Hudson, the former Collector, had done this, and Mr. Frank ghought shat precedent should be followed. The Collector replied that he did not think any agreement would be satisfactory, that the evils were beyond any remedy as long as Esher remained in business.

ing Worse for a Cough Than Coughing.

From the Baitimore News.

A physician who is connected with an institution which contains many children, says:

"There is nothing more tritiating to a cough than to cough. For some time I had been so fully assured of this that I recently determined, if possible, for one minute, at least, to lessen the number of coughs beard in a certain ward in the hospital of the institution. By the promise of rewards and punishments I succeeded in inducing them to hold their breath when tempted to cough, and in a little while I was myself surprised to see how some of the children antirely recovered from their disease.

"Constant coughing is precisely like scratching a wound on the outside of the body, so long as it is done the wound will not heal. Let a person when tempted to cough draw a long breath and hold it until it warms and soothes every air-cell' and some benefits will soon be received from the process. The nitrogen, which is thus refined, acts as an anodyne to the irritated mucous memorane, allaying the desire to cough and giving the throat and lungs a chance to heal. At the same time a suitable medicine will aid nature in her effort to recuperate."

"I did not go into the cancus last night, and I do not intend to vote with a majority of the Democrats. I am sorry that I do not think on this question as do most of my Democratic associates. I believe every man who went into the caucus and pledged himself to vote on this question lost his individuality as thoroughly as though he never had any." [Bepublican cheers.]

Mr. Thurmond severely criticised the Democratic members and charged them with

"Mr. Speaker, I refuse to answer aby questions or to hold conversation with a man who uses private conversations to holder up his arguments in public debate;"

Everybody in the House looked at Thurmond, who subsided without a word. In a forcible speech Mr. Jewett, in reply to a question, said that all of the talking on the subject had not been done by the Democrats, by a long shot; that a great deal of it had been done by leading Republicans who introduced the resolution and who have been aided and abetted, he was sorry to say, by a few men who claimed to be Democrats, but he didn's know whether they were Democrats or not.

Waller Young of Buchanan County moved the previous question on the indefinite postponoment of the resolution and substitute.

Lupton of Texas, the Wheel member, voted with the Republicans.

DELAYED APPOINTMENTS.

Gov. Francis did not send to the Senate this morning the appointment of Labor Commissioner as was expected. It is understood, however, that he has determined who the appointee will be, and he has also made up his mind whom he will appoint Police Commissioners of St. Louis. There is a great deal of speculation among politicians as to who the lucky men are, but nothing authorizative has been heard from the Governor.

this morning and it is a question if he will again be admitted to a Democratic caucus. A majority of the Democrats feel very deeply about his action in jumping the caacus agreement, and not one spoke in his favor on the floor. During Thurmond's speech he was applanded by the Republicans, while the Democrats called "time" on him at every opportunity. At 11 o'clock the special order, being the Thurmond substitute for the Church resolution cutting down the clerical force of the House, was called up.

Ed O'Day said: "As this question has already occupied two days of our time, I move that further consideration of the substitute be indefinitely postponed."

Thurmond of Callaway said that he wanted to correct the impression that the Legislature is wasting money in discussing the question before the House. He attacked the Democratic press for creating the impression, and his remarks were loudly applauded by the Republicans.

Jewett of Shelby County, a leading Democrat, called Thurmond was taking too much latitude,

The manner in which order is maintained in the top tier at the Metropolitan Opera-house is worthy of emulation, if not exact imitation by other parts of the big theater. As a rule, the persons who ascend the seemingly neverending stairways which reach the big gallery are devotees of music and are more willing to take trouble to hear it than they are to pay the big prices in the lower part of the auditorium. They are exceedingly particular about absolute quiet when the director raps for the beginning of the overture, and, unless conversation is entirely stopped, there comes from every part of the gallery a chorus of hisses which enforces estention to the unwritten laws of the place.

Secretary of the Secret

Trouble is brewing among the stockholders of the Eagle Mountain, formerly the Mexican Improvement. A rumor was circulated on the noor of the Mining Exchange to the effect that a meeting would be held to-morrow night to endeavor to raise funds. Difficulties which promised to be insuperable, it is said, had arisen in the collection of the $30,000 required to pay off the debts and continue work, and a number of the largest stockholders had threatened to withdraw the subscriptions to the working capital made by them some time ago. These reports were declared by Messrs. Campbell and Cousins, who are heavy holders of the stock, to be without basis. The subscription list, it was said, had been closed and ample funds were in the treasury. A meeting would be held to consider the question of providing a successor for Supt. Moore, who leaves the mine in a few days, but there is no other object in view. The stock was offered at 20, bid 17ts.

The lower levels of the I. X. L. are reported to be rapidly improving, while the concentrates are proving unexpectedly productive. The stock opened at 11½, and 300 shares were sold, rising to 12, at this figure 1,200 shares changing hands.

Adams was 35 asked, 32½ bid; 100 Aztec sold at 46½; 500 Mary Foster brought 12, and 1,100 sold at 11½; Silver Age was $2.30 bid, $2.70 asked; 200 Queen of the West sold at 20; Wire Patch was 36½ bid, 37½ asked; 900 Golden Erabrought 18½; 32½ was paid for 300 Yuma Copper; 1,000 Rena sold at 2; Conception was 13 bid, offered at 15; Rosalis was offered at 30.

THE CENTRAL PACIFIC TROUBLE, and a Strike Averted.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH. KANSAS CITY, Mo., January 25 .- P. M. Arthur, Chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, was in this city for a short time this morning, returning to Chicago from a trip to the Pacific Coast, accompanied by a trip to the Pacific Coast, accompanied by Mrs. Arthur. He said that his trip was one that combined business and pleasure, the principal object being to settle the threatened trouble on the Central Pacific. The trouble grew out of complaints of the engineers regarding the master mechanic, Ryan, and had been satisfactorily settled by the road's promise to remove the official if he gave ground for any more complaints. When asked if the report that he intended to resign his position as chief of the Brotherhood was true, Air. Arthur said that he had never said anything that might lead to such a supposition, and that all he knew about it was what he had read in the papers. In regard to the settlement of the Burlington strike he had nothing to say, except that it was satisfactory to the Brotherhood. The strike, he said, had of course been a great expense to the organization, but not withstanding this it was never in brotherhood. The strike, he said, had of course been a great expense to the organiza-tion, but notwithstanding this it was never in better shape, and is able to undertake another struggle to-morrow if occasion demanded it.

LITTLE ROCK. Ark., January 25 .- The House of Representatives having rejected the Senate resolution forbidding C. M. Norwood, late Union Labor and Republican candidate for Governor, to contest Gov. Eagle's election Governor, to contest Gov. Eagle's election unless he first gave bond to cover all costs, estimated at from $20,000 to $30,000, the investigation will proceed. Norwood charges that frauds were perpetrated in fourteen counties giving Eagle 6,000 majority. Sufficient frauds occurred to deprive him of a majority enough to overcome Eagle's majority in other counties. He claims that but for fraud, intimidation and violence Norwood would have a clear majority over Eagle of 5,670 votes.

IT is to be hoped that Congressman CRANE of Texas and Congressman BARRY of Mississippi will pause and reflect on the terrible penalty of fighting a foolish duel in this country. The death of either in such a duel would mean a blasted life for the other, and a harmless duel between two Congressmen would expose both to never-ending ridicule.

MISS ROOSEVELT of New York had all of her property settled upon herself as a preliminary step to marriage with a German Baron. If this example were generally followed by rich American girls there would be less unhappiness growing out of the marriage of American girls with titled foreigners, and we may add safely, fewer titled American wives. Owners of titles as a rule want the control of all that the titles bring in the matrimordal market.

SENATOR SHERMAN'S amendment to the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill, providing funds for the use of the President to protect American interests and establish a coaling station in the Samoan Islands, is the first measure with a ring of war about it which has been proposed. While it is not at all probable that there will be any war with Germany, it is well enough to be prepared for the worst. Besides, vigorous action in the beginning may have a peaceful effect.

ing the vacancies among the commissioned officers not filled by the graduating class at West Point to be supplied from deserving non-commissioned officers, no civilian appointments being made until this list is exhausted. The consequence is that hundreds of young fellows of refinement and education, who are unable to obtain an appointment to the Military Academy, seek to gain the shoulder-straps from the ranks, and enlist with the intention of making the army their life profession. This has raised the standard of the army immensely, and will, before long, cure its greatest curse, desertion.

"MUNISHING REFERENCIORY SOLDIERS,
"Another change which the new law rendered possible," Mad. Lansing went on to say, "is the general alteration of the punishments prescribed by the articles of war in the direction of mildness. Of course in all I have said I refer to the regulars, and not to the volunteers called out by the war. Our old-fashioned punishments were harbarous, but possibly not more so than the denraved and desumers.

I refer to the regulars, and not to the volunteers called out by the war. Our old-fashioned punishments were harbarous, but possibly not more so than the depraved and desperate character of the general run of the men required. To be sent to the guardhouse was found to have no effect and sharper measures were applied. A very common sentence was that of hard labor with a ball and chain at the ankle, and these were no toys, the shot generally used being a twelve-pound shot. Another favorite but more severe method of discipline was that of the log. A man would be sentenced to confinement, say for all mouths, and for eight hours a day to be compelled to walk around a ring twenty feet in diameter, carrying on his shoulder a log weighing twenty-five and in some cases forge pounds. At the best this was severe crough, but the Sergeant of the guard had various devices for rendering it still more unpleasant. There were always several punishment logs kept, some round, some smoothed off on one side and others carefully cut into a kind of fluting. The smoothed logs were the easiest to carry. The round logs were the easiest to carry. The round logs were the sailest trequired some exertion to keep them in places. But the fluted logs were capable of being made terrible instruments of torture. The sharp edges cut into the shoulder, and if a man was not allowed to use his coat as a pad, his sufferings were very acute. It was always a painful sight to see half a dozen ferings were very acute. It was always painful sight to see half a dozen ong men walking wearily around a ring th heavy logs on their shoulders and show-

BUCKING AND GAGGING.

"Another method of bringing men into subjection, not prescribed by court-martial but freely applied by company commanders, was bucking and gagging. In this a man's wrists were tied together and passed over his knees. A thick stick was then thrust between the knees and the elbows, confining the victim in a most cramped and uncomfortable position. A large wooden gag was then thrust between his teeth, strapped tightly behind his head, and he was left to his reflections for five or six hours. Occasionally the culprit would be said in the full glare of the sun, where flies and insects could get at him, he being unable to brush them off. This was a very cruel addition to a punishment in itself bad enough. Slight offenses were punished by tying the malefactor to to a wagon wheel all night, making him ride the wooden horse, generally improvised from a wagon tongue, or tying him up by the thumbs so that his toes could just touch the ground. BUCKING AND GAGGING.

HOW DESERTERS WERE DEALT WITH. HOW DESERTERS WERE DEALT WITH.

"The worst punishment short of death was flogging. This was not abolished until some years after the Mexican war, and was never very common. It was never indicted unless coupled with a sentence of dismissal, as the theory of our military authorities was that a man who had been flogged was unfit to be a soldier. Mutiny was thus punished, but the sentence was generally passed because of desertion. Our officers were almost universally disincilined to its imposition, and therefore a clause was added to the articles of war making it obligatory in cases of desertion. Just before

CINCINNATI, O., January 25 .- The oc tion services at St. Paul's Church, in which office of Bishop of the Southern Diocese of Ohio, filled that building completely with those fortunate enough to received of admission. The service beg at 10:30 and was characterised by all the deep solemnity that such an unusual ceremony brings. It has been half a century since a Bishop was consecrated here. That was when Bishop Leonidas Polk was consecrated Bishop Vincent was elected as assistant to Bishop Jaggar, but as that gentleman's health precludes his resuming the duties of his office, the new prelate is really the Bishop. The church was beantifully decorated and the unusual number of clercymen in attendance, as well as the prolonged service with its wealth of music made the scene a memorable one. Bishop Spaulding of Colorado delivered the consecration sermon. He was assisted in the service by Bishops Dudley of Kentucky, Knickerbocker of indians and Whitehead of Pennsylvania, and by Revs. Grange of Steudely, Blake of Avondale and Tinsley of Walnut Hill.

BALTIMORE, Md., January 25 .- In the dismissed, without costs, the libel spit of Robert McGninn, a colored minister, against Robert McGuinu, a colored minister, against the owners and captain of the steamer Mason M. Weems for damages, for the treatment on board to which McGuinn was subjected because of his color. In July, 1867, he purchased a first-class ticket to Millenback, Va. When the supper bell rang, he seated himself at the table, and upon his refusal to move, the food and dishes were removed to another table, the passengers all taking seats at that table and leaving him alone. Afterward the passengers threatened him, which was the cause of his leaving the boat before reaching his destination. The Judge held that when a first-class price is demanded and paid the persons paying that price must have the same accommodations, but when public sentiment demands a separation of passengers it must be granted to some extent. While this sentiment prevails the carrier must not be compelled to sacrides his business in order to combat it. A. W. Middleton, Eastern Passenger Agent of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fo Railroad, said: "I have not given the matter much attention, but I do not think the Ford bill will specially harm us. For several years past our road has been giving much attention to California immigration, and the class of immigration and were self-supporting. I do not believe that a head tax of $6, or even a reasonably larger sum, would deterthem from this country. Most of our immigrants are from Switzerland, France and Italy, and they go to California because of the congenial climate and surroundings, reminding them offhome. They are of the better class and succeed in making their way without trouble. We don't have to employ agents in Europe either to get them here. The advantages of the country tapped by our system are too well known abroad to require that. Indeed, the only transcontinental line that I know of which does employ any agents on the other side is the Southern Pacific. It distributes tons of circulars.

the Ford bill becomes a law, will absorb the most of the immigration."

General Eastern Agent of Freight Traffic Becker of the Deuter's Bio Grande, in the absence of General Eastern Passenger Agent W. B. Cobb, who was out of the city, said he sid not care much to express an opinion concerning the proposed change in the laws relating to immigration as affecting the business of the transcontinental roads, but he would declare that he did not think much harm would result to it. He did not believe that the passage of the law would greatly benefit either the steamship or railway companies of Canada.

WILL DO NO BARN.

C. B. Kinnan, General Passenger Agent of the Northern Pacific Rairroad, entertained much the same views as Freight Agent Becker. He said his company had no passenger agents in Europe, but, like nearly all the other transcontinental roads, worked to centrol immigration over its line through other channels. The Northern Pacific transported a superior class of immigrants who experienced no difficulty worth mentioning in establishing comfortable homes in the West. The field in which it operated was peculiarly its own, particularly Washington Territory, which was being rapidly settled, and Mr. Kinnan apprehended no great misfortune if the Ford bill should become a law. He was quite positive that in that svens Canada would not be much the gainer at the expense of the United States.

Listed States.

Even if a considerable proportion of the tide should be diverted to Halifax and other couports in the British provinces, it is doubtful if more than one in four or five who come that way would remain in the Dominion. Most of them would eventually manage to cross the border, either north of Chicago or from Winnipeg, and settle in the United States. The Canadian Pacific would consequently be a benefit to a certain extens, but the roads in this country connecting with the Canadian system of railways would in the end get a sufficient share of patronage to satisfy their requirements. their requirements.

"I wish to say this much," said Mr. Middleton. "During last year we did not send fifty pounds of advertising matter to Europe from this office and what has been sent by us was at the request of the steamship companies."

"What about the undesirable emigrants to the United States—the paupers and crimihals?" was asked.

"What shout the desirable emigrants to the United States—the paupers and criminals," was saked.

"No considerable number of that class of people find the live way West. They stay right here in New York or go down into the coal regions of Peunsylvania. They do not go wast of the Missouri River as a general thing. As for Annehiss and Socialists they are usually well supplied with funds and travel first-class wherever they desire to go. I agree, all yell supplied with funds and travel first-class wherever they desire to go. I agree, and the measure which his count stringent provisions to immigration for head on the condition of affairs is improving every year."

The character of immigration has greatly improved of recent years, and there are not as many shouse in the people. And the condition of affairs is improving every year.

JEFFERSON CITY. Mo., January 24.—The total running expenses of the Thirty-fifth General Assembly are placed by Mr. Champ Clark of Pike County at $1,592 a day. The House of Representatives did little or nothing to-day beyond discussing a reduction in the cierical force. Yesterday fully one-haif of the time was consumed in talking on the same subject. When the Committee on Employes submitted its report two week ago, at least a day and a half was spent in a similar manner, making fully three days which have been devoted to the question. In the Senate as much, if not more, than that length of tion and Clark stated as much in so many words on the floor of the House. Just calitrant Thurmond from Callaway jumped the caucus agreement and practically went over to the Republicans, by offering a substi-tute for the Republican resolution, which really was the same in effect as the original. Thurmond's unexpected action in setting at defiance the party whip created consternation in the Democratic ranks, and Champ Clark, as the leader of his party, had the question postponed until to-morrow morning, when a lively time is expected.

Late this afternoon, it became generally understood that the word had been passed around among Republicate members of the House to support the Thurmond substitute and let their own resolution go to the wall. By doing this they will obtain the result for which they have been finting—reduce the number of employes and create dissension among the Democrats.

Hanly sues to recover damages for injuries received while he was employed by the defendant. He was a brakeman on one of the trains, and while throwing the switch at Normandy he fell in a ditch and sprained his ankle, receiving, he claims, permanent injuries. The company's defense is that the switch was a proper one; that the switch was a proper one; that the ditch was necessary, and that Hanly's injuries were received through his own carelessness.

Letters of administration were granted to Annie Still, on the estate of William Still, in the Probate Court this morning. The estate is valued at $1,600.

The will of George B. Lee, leaving all his property to his sister, Eliza L. Lee, was admitted to probate this morning. Charles A. Stavolo filed a suit against the St. Louis & San Francisco Rallway Co. this morning, and asks for $30,000 damages. He alleges in his petition that he rode to Ewing avenue on one of the defendant's trains, and when he left the train, and before he could reach a place of safety one of the defendant's trains on another track came along, and the engineer failed to ring the bell constantly before reaching the crossing, as required by law, and was running at a greater rate of speed than six miles an hurr, which is a violation of the law. He further alleges that his right leg was mangled so that it had to be cut off, his scalp was cut open, two toes of the left foot dislocated, his upper lip cut through, his right thigh bruised and cut and two of his teeth loosened.

MR. POWDERLY'S ENEMY.

MR. BARRY ON THE GROWTH OF HIS NEW LABOR ORGANIZATION.

Four Branches Organized and Thirty Organizers Commissioned—Mr. Barry Declares the Knights of Labor Order is

NEW YORK, January 25 .- Thomas D. Barry, under of the new organization known as the United Brotherhood of Labor and the sworn enemy of General Master Workman Powderly and the other general officers of the Knights of Labor, was in this city yesterday. Mr. Barry intended to remain here for several days and to address a mass-meeting, but he received a dispatch from his home in East Saginaw, Mich., yesterday morning informing him of the death of a young daughter and in consequence he left for home last night. Be. fore he left the city the Post-Disparch correpondent had a conversation with him in rerd to his work since the last session of the ieneral Assembly of the Knights of Labor at ndianapolis. Mr. Barry said:

"I left home January 5. Since then I visited many places, including Cleveland, Beaver Falls, Pittsburg, Philadelphia and this city. It was my intention to visit the central part of New York State and then visit Boston and other Eastern cities, but the death of my child vill prevent such visits for the present. Since have been away I have organized four sioned thirty organizers. We now have about three hundred organizers in the field. I find the working people very favorably disposed toward the new organization. The Knights of Labor are rapidly falling to pieces. The general office in Philadelphia has to pay about $19 a week for expressage on returned charters and supplies from local assemblies. "While in Pittsburg I offered the use of my hall and half of my time to Mr. Powderly to meet me in public debate and his expenses to and from Scranton were guaranteed, but he did not dare face me. After I left Pittsburg he came to the city and the only answer he made to my charges was abuse, and abuse is no argument.

THE KNIGHTS HARD UP.

came to the city and the only answer he made to my charges was abuse, and abuse is no argument.

THE KNIGHTS HARD UP.

"At Yeagertown, Pa., the Knights of Labor were very much opposed to me, but I insisted on being heard, and when I left the Knights had decided to join the Brotherhood in a body. The Knights of Labor are hard pressed for money. The general lecturers have been taken from the field on account of lack of funds. Lecturer Walls of Pittsburg has been laid off. Wright of Toronto, the new member of the General Executive Board, went to Cincinnati to build up District Assembly No. 48. The meeting was well advertised, but only nineteen Knights attended. This district had 18,000 members a year ago—now it has about 500. District No. 24 of Chicago had 12,000 members one year ago and now it has 450. A general lecturer tried to build it up, but had no more success than Wright had in Cincinnati. At the meeting of the car drivers and conductors held at Cooper Union lass month, Powderly said that the order was flourishing in East Saginaw ever since the man who wrote on the walls of the order 'God bless the man who invented dynamite' left it. Whoever made that statement and said I was the author of it, he lied. Since then Mr. Powderly has offered to supply charters and supplies to local assemblies for 50 cents each it they would organize. He could not find more than three persons to organize, and to-day there is not a Knight of Labor in East Saginaw.

A BROTHERHOOD CONVENTION.

"The Brotherhood will hold a convention this year. It is probable that it would be at the same time and place as that of the General Assembly, provided the order ever has another general meeting, which I think is improbable. The general officers have used $9,000 of the educational fund and $1,000 from the co-operation fund, which has been in the treasmy for many years. The order is pressed for money, but if an attempt is made to mortgage the palace at Philadelphia the attempt will be vigorously opposed. The Brotherhood is flourishing. I thin will have a most prosperous branch. I pleased with the work in New York. whole country is ripe for the new move which is opposed to autocrats and the tralization of power."

Petitions for better laws for the protection of children and for calves in market were distributed. There was a discussion upon ways and means of raising funds for carrying out the humane projects of the society. The ladies agreed that St. Louis (the sixth largest city of the United States), should have at least as many agents for the prevention of crueity as Philadelphis, where the Woman's Humane Society alone employs five. For Vice-Presidents of the society, the following ladies were elected: Mesdames Albert Todd, for first Vice-President. Lucy A. Ellis, J. E. McKeighan, Laura Anderson, L. M. Rumsey, James Green, Moses Fraley, John Hodgen, Sale, Sheppard, S. L. Highleyman, Jordan W. Lambert, Hugh Crawford, James Garneau, R. H. Kerns, J. W. Allen and St. John.

Hon. Geo. W. Allen, Mayor:

Sin—I have the honor to call the attention of the committee on City Hall to the Chamber of Commerce building. The location is central, is near the terminus of every street car line and is susceptible of being remodeled that conveniences and room sufficient and to spare may be had for all the city business.

The Merchants' Exchange are anxious and desirous of changing to another locality, and if they could, I believe, would give up their lease so that the city could get possession in a very short time. Respectfully, WM. F. HAINES.

It was reported yesterday that the firm of Morton, Bliss & Co., were among Mr. Slaven's backers in this new undertaking. So far as could be learned last evening, this report is not exactly true. Mr. Bliss himself had an interest, it is said, but neither the firm, as such, nor Mr. Morton has any whatever. A representative of the Vice-President elect, who was seen last evening, did not seem to attack much importance to Mr. Slavens visitto Paris. Mr. Slaven, he said, was a frequent visitor there. No information on this matter could be obtained at the office of Mr. Bliss.

Changing Their Place of Meeting. The section of the St. Louis Medical Soc Frank J. Lutz as its president had night or place of meeting Young H. Bond and I. N. Love tried to induce their supporters to make the changes, but without success, and an adjournment was had until to morrow night. Last night J. R. Lemen, whose claim to the presidency is supported by the Bond-Love faction, called a special meeting which was attended by some twenty members. It was then decided to change the meeting place to the Calumet Club, at Tenth and Locust streets. A resolution was adopted directing the secretary—who affiliates with the Lutz faction—and the treasurer, who affiliates with no faction, to perform their duties or their offices would be declared vacant.

Pending final protection of his rights as a patentee, Dr. Gatling was disinclined to give a detailed description of his boat, but he fortified his assertion that he had devised something at once cheap, simple and effective, by quoting from letters from naval officers of high standing, substantiating everything that he claimed. Dr. Gatling said:

"I have devised a torpedo boat which I regard as more effective and certain in any action than any heretofore invented. With it any ironclad seeking to enter our harbors or coming to anchor, for instance, in the lower New York Bay, could be quickly and easily destroyed. The boat will be inexpensive as compared with other torpedo boats. In an emergency tug boats of 25 to 100 tons could be greedily converted into effective torpedo boats. My choice, however, would be iron or steel boats with a speed of not less than itwenty knots an hour."

ball, weighing three-quarters of an ounce, around which one turn has been made with an end of a skein of old-fashioned gray stocking yarn, is slipped into the machine. Then another, after which the boy in charge touches a lever, the machine starts and the winding begins. The rubber ball is hidden in a few seconds, and in its place appears a little gray yarn ball that rapidly grows larger and larger. When it applies to be about half the size of a regulation base ball there is a click, the machine stops, the yarn is cut, and the boy ploks out the ball and tosses it into a basket. When this basket is full it is passed along to another boy, who white cotton thread, and by watching closely as the white appears on the surface of the gray the beauty of the winding machine can be appreciated. There is perfect regularity, and no place where the thread crosses oftener than in another. A coating of rubber cement is next applied, and a half-ounce layer of the very best fine worsted completes the ball when the exception of the cover.
